PLAN ORIENTATION

BASEBALL NEWS

The next V. A. Orientation and indoctrination course for prospective volunteers will be presented by the professional staff Wednesday, April 15, from 1:30 to 5:00 p. m. and 7:30 to 10:00 p. m. at the V. A. hospital, Gulfport.

There is an urgent need for additional volunteer workers to help the professional staff in the many programs to aid patients in their recovery.

Interested parties are asked to call Miss Alberta Boyer, phone 443-J, or Mrs. V. J. Piazza, phone 782.

The following poem was written by one of the patients while recovering. This man, who is now at home, expressed his thanks for the many volunteers who helped him.

THANKS
May we offer our thanks to you, Who have helped to bring us through

For without the help you've given us, We would be lost, it's true. Our thanks to the Doctors, With their patient understanding

And also to the nurses, Whose job is never through. There are the attendants

Whose job is never through, When not busy doing other things, They watch over me and you. To the social workers and grey ladies,

They have quite a task, May they accept our thanks also, This is all we ask.

BASEBALL NEWS

As reported in last week's paper, the Bay Juniors Baseball Club is again operating this year. Easter Sunday was an off day for the Juniors, but the smaller group under the management of Bert Stieffel, had a game which was attended by a fairly good crowd.

Next Sunday, April 12, this same group will play, and an even larger crowd is expected by those in charge of this program.

The Bay Jrs. in their new uniforms will journey to New Orleans for a game with the Shrine Mites, a club in the NORD program. The game will be played at Delgado Center at 2:00 p. m. Parents and other interested persons are invited to go along.

Anyone wishing to go, and having cars, are requested to contact Father Taylor at the rectory, phone 200, they are having transportation problems at the moment. They hope they will be ironed out before the next road trip.

Sunday, April 19, it is planned and hoped that a game can be arranged here at home with a team from the Metairie program which is under the direction of Harry Glover.

And to those of Special Service, Their job is never done, For through their time and effort, We manage to have our fun. Now let's see who have we missed.

Oh yes, the cooks, stenographers and those in Personnel. They too, have contributed to our Welfare.

We also think they're swell.

—Mrs. Norton Haas, Miss Patricia Corley and Mrs. Ida Ladner attended the Conference of Social Workers in Jackson from Tuesday to Friday.
—Guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Pitcairn for several days recently was Mrs. Harry McCully, Sr., of Olan, New York.

SEA COAST ECHO, FRIDAY, APRIL 10, 1953

In the above photo, Spanish-type range cattle are shown on typical cut-over timber land. These inferior quality cattle are all that could be expected from poor, untreated cut-over land.

In the lower photo, cattle are shown grazing on improved pasture consisting of Kentucky 31 Fescue and White Dutch Clover. This pasture, planted in 1947, now gives grazing from November to June of each year.

Fred C. Taylor, who has improved his pastures through the aid of the Soil Conservation Service, now carries a cow and a half per acre. This land, located in the flat area Southwest of Kiln, is of a wet-natured type; this combination of Fescue and White Dutch Clover is particularly adapted to this type of soil.

EASTER RECESS

The Senate is paying the price for indulgence in its privilege of unlimited debate, which always throws it behind the strict-rules House in disposing of the legislative program. While the Senators were able to take only a long week-end over Easter, members of the House are enjoying a full-fledged spring recess of ten days.

With most members of Congress out of town, Washington has been largely taken over by the usual spring influx of tourists. Each year some three hundred thousand high school students visit the Nation's Capitol in organized group tours. In addition, thousands of families come by automobile from every corner of the country, the tourist season reaching its height during cherry blossom time.

This year the weatherman failed completely to cooperate with the officials here charged with the ticklish problem of timing the Cherry Blossom Festival to coincide with blooms around the Tidal Basin. The cherry trees burst into bloom about two weeks ago, and the blossoms have long since passed their prime, but the Festival, will not be held until the

Holy Name Society
To Elect Officers

The Holy Name Society of Our Lady of the Gulf Church, which met Tuesday evening, April 7, appointed a nominating committee to choose a slate of officers for the next year which starts in June.

The election of officers will take place at the May meeting. A committee to help with the work of the annual parish fair was appointed and will soon meet with Monsignor Gmelch to plan for the affair.

Members were reminded that Sunday, April 12, is the regular Holy Communion day, and that breakfast would be served as usual in the school cafeteria.

Rev. Father Hugh Taylor announced that beginning the next meeting, there will be a question box at the door, and during the period of his usual remarks, he will, in the future, devote some time to answering these questions.

Members were also reminded of the evening of games sponsored by and for the benefit of the Holy Names Society at the K. C. home Monday, April 13. All members are urged to attend and bring their families and friends.

beyond that to the edge of the continental shelf.

Except for general interest because of the question of states' rights involved, the people of Mississippi have not exhibited much excitement or concern over the tidelands dispute, because Mississippi Sound is already considered inland waters and is admitted by all to be state owned.

However, a few days before the bill came up in the House, some question was raised as to its possible effect on the fishing industry in view of the long-standing controversy over Louisiana's right to exact fees from citizens of Mississippi to allow for shrimp in waters off the shores of the Pelican state. The significance of this to the fishermen of the Mississippi Gulf Coast is readily seen when one realizes that the Louisiana marshes, off which the best fishing grounds are located, lie almost due south of Biloxi.

It has been our contention all along that under existing law, particularly the privileges and immunities section of the Constitution, one state cannot discriminate against the citizens of another by exacting unreasonable fees, licenses, or controls and this position has twice been upheld by the U. S. Supreme Court.

But in an effort to spell this out in the tidelands bill, we offered two amendments restating the law barring disparity of treatment of citizens of different states in the taking of fish, shrimp, and other migratory marine life. Those in charge of the bill opposed the amendments on the ground that they were unnecessary, and on that basis they were voted down. However, even though they were lost, the debate did succeed in showing that it was not the intent of Congress in passing the tidelands bill to change the law on fishing rights.

Goss Increases 40 to 220 Acres
Conservation Work Help Development

The use of a well planned conservation program meant the difference in success and failure for Karl Goss.

"I wanted good pastures, dairy cows and modern equipment," Karl stated, when asked how he became interested in land-use work and applying it to his own farm. "I was determined to do something besides 'chop' cotton," he said, as he reviewed his boyhood years on a cotton farm.

Karl was born and reared in Caesar Community and attended the public schools of Hancock County. He volunteered for the U. S. Naval Reserves in October 1942 and saw duty in the South Pacific, participating in all the battles from Guadalcanal to the end. He was discharged December 12, 1943, and during these war years, planned and dreamed of the day when he could return to Caesar Community and a farm.

In 1944 while he was in Military service, his father divided the old home site, giving him his first 40 acres. That first 40 acres deeded to him by his father was a long way from the present modern 220 acre farm with its 45 dairy animals—a farm that is today completely mechanized.

After this young man returned from service his next step was that of acquiring a helper—the wife who is constantly assisting him with all the phases of the operation.

About this time an additional 150 acres of lieu school land was acquired, all of which was in timber. As time went by and his operations required more land, he purchased another 30 acres from a brother for $2000.00 completing the 220 acre unit.

As Karl further expanded he realized more and more the need of a good land-use conservation plan. He felt that some of his land was not returning to him except from it. In 1948, a five-year Soil Conservation Plan was developed. The objective of the plan was to "adapt each acre to its best use."

In the spring of 1949 he built his first stock pond; then built 2 more in the fall of 1951. In the meantime, he used a selective cutting process and cut out 80 units of paperwood and 200 poles and 2000 fence posts from the original 150 acres of timber land he acquired just after returning from military service. In the spring of 1952, he made another cutting by the selective process and removed 120 units of paperwood and 22,500 board feet of lumber which he is using to build his new modern 6-room house.

Karl said that as his development program progressed, he realized that he needed some financing if he was to attain some of the goals which seemed essential for complete and full operation of his farm. In 1950 he got his needed financing from the Farmers Home Administration.

As a result of that assistance, he got 12 Holsteins as additions to his dairy, acquired a tractor, got the last 30 acres of land from his brother and completely mechanized his farm. At this time, with further financial assistance, he is building a modern ranch style six-room home.

"Soil Conservation has materially improved my farm," stated this 30-year-old farmer as he looked out across one of his fields of white Dutch clover being grazed by some of his top milk producers. "Through improved pastures such as these, my milk production has about doubled."

He has fenced and cross-fenced the entire farm and has it divided into 12 pastures. Of the 45 dairy animals on his farm, 18 are producing milk at this time. The milk is being delivered to Crosby Milk Products in Pica-rune.

As we watched the new home taking shape, Karl stated that he cleared 30 acres of land in the summer of 1951, included in that clearing was the house site.

While looking over his farm he showed us an old slough which was drained about three months ago. It took eight acres of dry-namite to properly drain the slough, which held nearly an acre of water, and at the same time was keeping several acres around it from being of much value because it was too wet.

When asked what he attributed his success to most of all, he replied "The service and help offered me by the various agricultural agencies of Hancock County."

Karl has ample grazing for his cattle at this time. Both white Dutch, Crispin and rye grass are giving him the return in milk that in turn adds money to his pay checks so that he can do the things needed on his farm. He will soon have bahia, sericea and common bermuda for summer pastures.

A new home has been one of the goals of Mr. and Mrs. Goss for several years. About three years ago they found a plan in the Progressive Farmer which they liked; and, with some minor changes, that plan is now shaping into a modern, ranch type home. Its completion will be another step toward the long time goal for this couple and their two children. The home is

GARDENING

Prune and stake early tomatoes. When plants are 12 to 14 inches tall begin pruning. Select one or two healthy shoots in axil of leaves that is between the leaf and plant stem. The first shoot should be about 8 to 10 inches above ground and the second 3 to 4 inches higher than the first. These shoots will give you a tomato plant with two or three stems. Three stems are enough. When first bloom appears on the plants, give each a tablespoonful of nitrate of soda, or equivalent. Work the nitrate well into the soil about four inches from the plant.

When tomato plants are 10 to 12 inches, stake them. Use stakes five feet tall and one inch in diameter or one inch square. Place the stakes in center of row in four to five inches from plant. Drive it eight to ten inches deep. Begin tying plant about eight inches from the ground. Make second and third ties eight to ten inches above the preceding tie.

COTTON INSECTS

The past mild winter can mean trouble in the cotton field this year. Around 1300 boll weevils per acre went into hibernation last fall at Tallulah, La. This is just about twice as many as came in that area last year.

In the Southern part of Tennessee, 2000 boll weevils per acre were reported as going into hibernation.

Outworn are showing up in winter grazing crops and can be serious in seedling cotton, especially where vegetation is turned under.

Aphids and thrips are doing considerable damage to cotton in the Rio Grande Valley. They are likely to be plentiful in Mississippi during seedling cotton time.

When cotton is up to a stand, apply poison as an insurance against loss due to thrips and aphids.

Due to a mild winter, spider mites can also become a serious problem this year earlier than usual.

Do not forget to keep close watch on your cotton this year and apply insecticides when needed.

PASTURES

Pastures supply the cheapest livestock feed. Data compiled by Ben Hazelwood of the West Tennessee Branch Experiment Station, show that improved pastures cost 29 cents per hundred pounds of total digestible nutrients. Alfalfa is next and costs 49 cents a hundred pounds TDN.

Silage is the cheapest stored feed that can be grown. It costs just about three times as much as improved pastures.

FORESTRY

Watch out for fires in your woods. Be extremely careful when burning off fence rows or in any other burning that you do. Fire in the woods will wreck havoc with new spring growth. Keep watch for outbreaks of southern pine beetle damage. Check with your local county agent or forester for control recommendations.

April 16 has been set as Career Day in the Bay St. Louis High School, at this time there will be a number of outstanding speakers in the different fields in which our students have signified their intention to enter after graduation from high school. There will be at least ten persons appearing before the different groups on this day's program.

It has been the policy of Bay St. Louis High School during the last several years to attempt the direction of students into their life's vocation by providing them with the information relative to the different vocations and at the same time having standardized tests check their fitness to follow the line selected.

Plans for the beginning of the new elementary school and the addition to the Valena C. Jones School are going forward as rapidly as possible with the view of getting construction on these two projects underway some time during the month of May. There are always delays in a project of this kind in setting up plans for financing and construction of public projects, but these are being taken care of as rapidly as all possible these facilities will be made available for the opening of next term of school.

Robert Emmett Brown has been appointed Band Director in the Bay St. Louis High School to fill out the term of this year. Mr. Brown came to Bay St. Louis from De Kalb, Mississippi, where he had charge of the De Kalb High School band, also the Junior college band at Scooba. He comes to Bay High with a splendid record as a teacher and a musician.

The Senior Class of Bay High School was invited to attend Mississippi Southern College's Career Day last Friday.

The purpose of the Career Day was to give each guest the opportunity to see what Mississippi Southern has to offer each boy and girl. Each academic division of the college welcomed the visitors into its laboratories, classrooms and offices.

Construction on the second 58,000 horsepower generating unit at Plant Sweet, near Meridian, is progressing favorably, Mississippi Power Company officials state. This new unit will be ready to produce electricity this summer.

The top picture shows the generator rotor being guided into place and in the bottom picture the pressure, striking the rows of blades on the turbine rotor causes both shafts to rotate and the generator produces electricity. The combined weight of the 2 rotors is 73,000 pounds and they are delicately balanced as the parts of a fine watch. In operation they will revolve at 3600 revolutions per minute. This unit, which will be able to produce approximately one million kilowatt-hours of electricity per day, is part of the Company's multi-million dollar construction program.

Farm Progress and the telephone

The rural telephone becomes more important with every advance in Mississippi's agriculture... for the telephone saves time... and time is money for our busy planters, stockmen, and dairymen.

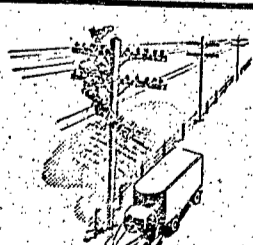

That's one of the reasons why the demand for rural telephone service continues to grow at a pace that keeps your telephone company hard at work.

Today, after 7 years of the greatest rural expansion and improvement program of Southern Bell's long life in the State, there are 4 rural telephones for every one in 1945... and we're working hard to add another 5,000 rural telephones this year!

"The doctor should be there in 5 minutes."

Most everyone who has used the telephone in an emergency will agree its worth is beyond price. And yet telephone rates have advanced much less than the price of most things you buy.

More Rural Telephones Coming

More than 100 new projects will extend the convenience of rural telephone service to many more farms and businesses throughout rural Mississippi during 1953.

Helping Make Mississippi More Prosperous

There are over 4,400 telephone employees in Mississippi—and our payroll is one of the state's largest... That's one of many ways your telephone company helps to increase Mississippi's prosperity.

"But, Pop—Don't You Love God, Too?"

The church bells are ringing and Jimmy and Jane are all dressed up ready to go. And so is Mother.

But not "Pop". He seems to think that "keeping the Lord's Day holy" is all right for the children. For Pop himself, though, it is his day of rest... "It even says so in the Bible." Besides, he will insist, he "is better than some people who go to church regularly."

Not all "Pops" are like this, of course. But empty pews in countless churches bear witness to the numerous fathers... and mothers also... who are either indifferent concerning their obligation to worship God, or confused as to how they should do so.

There is confusion, in fact, even among those who recognize this obligation. Some Christians insist that the Sabbath (Saturday) is the day to be kept holy, as do Orthodox Jews. In this they are following the literal meaning of the Law of Moses and ignoring the practice of the Christian Church from Apostolic times, as sanctioned by Jesus Christ.

Our Lord Himself substituted the New Covenant for the Old, abrogating the law which made the Sabbath observance obligatory. Sunday became The Lord's Day of the Christians even during the lifetime of the Apostles. After several centuries, it became a world-wide law of the Church, which Christ had authorized to make laws.

There is also confusion as to what constitutes "keeping The Lord's Day holy." Catholics, for instance, must assist at Mass, or The Lord's Supper, under penalty of serious sin. Many other Christians also place great importance on unflinching participation in Sunday worship. But many think going to church, while a "nice thing to do," is not absolutely necessary. Christian opinion also varies concerning what work, and what pleasure, are permissible on The Lord's Day.

Even though you are not a Catholic... and perhaps never intend to be... it will be inspiring and valuable for you to learn the Catholic teaching and practice concerning The Lord's Day. For these teachings and practice date back to Apostolic times and have their origin in the teaching and example of The Master Himself. They give a clear and understandable guide to those who wish to manifest their love of the Lord on His Day.

Don't wait for your child to ask: "But, don't you love God, too?" If we wish rightly to honor God. For free copy, write today. Ask for Pamphlet No. KC-36.
